

Complaints Procedure (Learners & Employers)

Policy Statement

EEVT Consulting believes that if a service user wishes to make a complaint or register a concern they should find it easy to do so. It is each centre's policy to welcome complaints and look upon them as an opportunity to learn, adapt, improve and provide better services. This policy is intended to ensure that complaints are dealt with properly and that all complaints or comments by service users and their relatives are taken seriously.

The policy is not designed to apportion blame, to consider the possibility of negligence or to provide compensation. It is NOT part of each centre's disciplinary policy.

Each centre believes that failure to listen to or acknowledge complaints will lead to an aggravation of problems, service user dissatisfaction and possible litigation. Each centre supports the concept that most complaints, if dealt with early, openly and honestly, can be sorted out at a local level between just the complainant and each centre.

Aim

The aim of each centre is to ensure that its complaints procedure is properly and effectively implemented, and that service users feel confident that their complaints and worries are listened to and acted upon promptly and fairly.

Goals

The goals of each centre are to ensure that:

- Service users, learners, users and their representatives are aware of how to complain, and that each centre provides easy to use opportunities for them to register their complaints
- A named person will be responsible for the administration of the procedure
- Every written complaint is acknowledged within two working days
- Investigations into written complaints are held within 28 days
- All complaints are responded to in writing by each centre
- Complaints are dealt with promptly, fairly and sensitively with due regard to the upset and worry that they can cause to both staff and service users.

The named complaints manager with responsibility for following through complaints is Trini Evans Center Manager.

Each centre believes that, wherever possible, complaints are best dealt with on a local level between the complainant and the centre. If either of the parties is not satisfied by a local process the case should be referred to the relevant individual or organisation

Complaints Procedure

Oral Complaints

- All oral complaints, no matter how seemingly unimportant, should be taken seriously. There is nothing to be gained by staff adopting a defensive or aggressive attitude.
- Front line staff who receive an oral complaint should seek to solve the problem immediately if possible.
- If staff cannot solve the problem immediately, they should offer to get the manager to deal with the problem.
- All contact with the complainant should be polite, courteous and sympathetic.
- At all times staff should remain calm and respectful.
- Staff should not accept blame, make excuses or blame other staff.
- If the complaint is being made on behalf of the service user by an advocate it must first be verified that the person has permission to speak for the service user, especially if confidential information is involved. It is very easy to assume that the advocate has the right or power to act for the service user when they may not. If in doubt it should be assumed that the service user's explicit permission is needed prior to discussing the complaint with the advocate.
- After talking the problem through, each manager or the member of staff dealing with the complaint should suggest a course of action to resolve the complaint. If this course of action is acceptable then the member of staff should clarify the agreement with the complainant and agree a way in which the results of the complaint will be communicated to the complainant (i.e. through another meeting or by letter).
- If the suggested plan of action is not acceptable to the complainant then the member of staff or manager should ask the complainant to put their complaint in writing to the centre and give them a copy of the complaint's procedure and form for completion.
- In both cases details of the complaints should be recorded on a complaint form and handed to the Manager.

Written Complaints

- When a complaint is received in writing it should be passed on to the named complaints manager who should record it in the complaints book and send an acknowledgment letter within two working days. The complaints manager will be the named person who deals with the complaint through the process.
- If necessary, further details should be obtained from the complainant. If the complaint is not made by the service user but on the service user's behalf, then consent of the service user, preferably in writing, must be obtained from the complainant.
- A leaflet detailing the procedure should be forwarded to the complainant.

- If the complaint raises potentially serious matters, advice should be sought from a legal advisor to the centre. If legal action is taken at this stage any investigation by the center under the complaint's procedure should cease immediately.
- If the complainant is not prepared to have the investigation conducted by the centre he or she should be advised to contact the appropriate department (whichever is relevant) and be given the contact details.
- Immediately on receipt of the complaint the centre should launch an investigation and within 28 days should be able to provide a full explanation to the complainant, either in writing or by arranging a meeting with the individuals concerned.
- If the issues are too complex to complete the investigation within 28 days, the complainant should be informed of any delays.
- If a meeting is arranged the complainant should be advised that they may, if they wish, bring a friend or relative or a representative such as an advocate.
- At the meeting a detailed explanation of the results of the investigation should be given and an apology if it is deemed appropriate (apologizing for what has happened need not be an admission of liability).
- Such a meeting gives the centre the opportunity to show the complainant that the matter has been taken seriously and has been thoroughly investigated.
- After the meeting, or if the complainant does not want a meeting, a written account of the investigation should be sent to the complainant. This should include details of how to approach the Commission for Social Care Inspectorate/supporting People if the complainant is not satisfied with the outcome.
- The outcomes of the investigation and the meeting should be recorded on appropriate documentation and any shortcomings in the centre's procedures should be identified and acted upon.
- Each centre should discuss complaints and their outcome at a formal business meeting and the centre's complaints procedure should be audited by the manager every six months.

If a learner is not satisfied with the final decision that is made by EETV Consulting Ltd regarding their complaint, the learner can complain to the relevant awarding body using their own complaint's procedure and furthermore if the learner remains unhappy, the learner can raise their complaint to the Qualification Regulator.

formal complaint to the SFA (Skills Funding Agency) complaint you have the right to - Make a
You can make a formal complaint if you are not able to solve your issue informally, or don't want to.

If you're unhappy with the outcome
as long as your organisation is funding the learner (SFA) about how your complaint was handled

- a business running an apprenticeship scheme
further education college
You must contact the SFA within 3 months of getting a decision from your organisation.
Email or post your complaint to the SFA complaints team.

SFA complaints team complaintsteam@sfa.bis.gov.uk

Complaints team
Skills Funding Agency
Cheylesmore House
Quinton Road
Coventry

CV1 2WT

SFA will acknowledge your complaint within 5 days and will let you know what will happen next.

If you're unhappy with the SFA response

You can write to the complaints adjudicator to decide on your case if you're unhappy with how

Complaints adjudicator

Legal and information compliance

Skills Funding Agency

Cheylesmore House

Quinton Road

Coventry

CV1 2WT

Training

The Manager is responsible for organizing and co-ordination training. All staff should be trained in dealing with, and responding to, complaints. Complaints policy training should be included in the induction training for all new staff and in-house training sessions on handling complaints should be conducted at least annually and all relevant staff should attend.